

Download Loneliness A Quiet Suicide

This article addresses loneliness and suicide in middle childhood and adolescence. Loneliness . Loneliness results from the perception that one's interpersonal relationships do not meet individual expectations and thus are inadequate. Although loneliness is considered a normal part of development, it can cause considerable distress. Suicide, a Crime of Loneliness. Suicide is not a casual behavior; for all that it may entail impulsivity, it is also a profound and momentous step for which many people don't have the force of will. At one level, the suicide of young people is obviously more tragic than the suicide of older people; youths have more of life ahead of them,...Societal constructs limit your options only if you let them. — Loneliness is not a fact it is emotion. It is pervasive and contributes to the breakdown of both the body and the brain resulting in death by illness and suicide by people, mostly men, age 45 and older. The loss is incomprehensible and avoidable. "How" is the question.